is not required by their charters as at present drawn. The Washington and Georgetown Company is authorized to charge 3 and the Metropolism line 3 cents per fare. It would cost the public about Floaton more if the ears were used as much, which is sourcely likely, under the cash system. A few years ago the companies, anticipating the passage of an act of Congress for that and other purposes, established the present tacket exclusings system. Congress can change the charters at any time. THE more the merrier will it be with "A ling liaby" at mathere, New National Saturday A Ten-Year-Old Boy on Trial.

Facts and Fancies

A great many people firmly believe that a good location is an absolute requisite to success in business: and have a superstitious dread of starting where others have failed, either through misfortune or incompetence. These fancies are the veriest nousense. From our standpoint the only benefit to be derived from a good location is that it may be within easy reach of the general public. Rusiness wherever started if properly conducted is bound to succeed. Such a bustness MAKES the location; the location alone never yet made the business. When we were about to open at the northwest corner of 7th and D streets a number of otherwise sensible men advised us not to touch the place-it was an unlucky corner, &c., &c., &c. The advice was kindly meant, and received in the spirit in which it was offered, but we quieted their fears on our account by informing them we knew the causes of the failure of those who had gone before us. THE PLACE HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT. We filled the first and second floors of the building with the best selected stock of Clothing for Men and Boys ever exhibited in the District of Columbia. We marked our Goods as low as it was possible to sell them and live, and the result is we are to-day doing the largest business that was ever done at the northwest corner of 7th and D sts. We have had to replenish our stock again and again, and to-day we opened fifteen cases of Men's and Boys' Clothing to replace what we have sold within the last ten days alone. Luck is the coward's shield; energy and attention to the wants of patrons are the beacon lights for which every business man who would be successful must steer.
